

August 08, 2025

H.E. Mr. Saba Kerdikoshvili
Embassy of Georgia
3 Vasilissis Amalias Str., 1101 Ayios Dometios, Nicosia, Cyprus

Your Excellency,

Subject: Scholarships for Georgian Citizens

On behalf of the Department of Politics and Governance at the University of Nicosia (UNIC), we are pleased to inform you about our scholarship scheme, designed to strengthen our already excellent relations with your Mission.

Our Master of Arts in International Relations and Eastern Mediterranean Studies (brochure attached) is an internationally accredited programme that offers opportunities for specialization at both theoretical and practical levels. This programme is primarily, though not exclusively, intended for individuals who work or plan to work in fields related to the Eastern Mediterranean and international relations, with a focus on diplomatic, security, energy, legal, political, social, and economic aspects in both the public and private sectors.

Given the relevance of the programme to our region, our department would like to prioritize applicants from your country. Therefore, we are pleased to offer 10 exclusive scholarships of 25% each to citizens from your country for our online (Distance Learning) MA in International Relations and Eastern Mediterranean Studies. The online format of the programme allows students to complete their studies without the need to relocate or travel.

This offer is valid for the Fall 2025 admissions period (applications are due by September 2025).

For detailed information about our scholarship schemes and the online application process, please visit the following link: <https://register.unic.ac.cy/study-international-relations-and-eastern-mediterranean-studies-ma-online-scholarships/>

We remain available for a meeting with you, to discuss the implementation of this offer and any other matters of mutual interest.

Constantinos Adamides, PhD

Associate Prof. of International Relations
Head, Department of Politics and Governance - School of Law
Email: adamides.c@unic.ac.cy | tel. +35722841500